

Pandemic Electronic Benefit Transfer (P-EBT) Information

What is P-EBT?

Pandemic Electronic Benefit Transfer (P-EBT) is a federal temporary emergency nutrition benefit that is loaded on electronic cards for families to purchase food. P-EBT was first implemented for the end of the 2019-20 school year. Congress made changes to the program for the 2020-21 school year, including the addition of a school learning model component to determine eligibility. P-EBT is jointly implemented by the Minnesota Department of Education (MDE) and the Minnesota Department of Human Services (DHS).

Eligibility

Students who attend eligible schools and qualify for free or reduced-price (FRP) meals will receive P-EBT benefits based on a calculation that includes the number of distance learning and hybrid days each month at their school.

IMPORTANT: Households that qualify for FRP meals but have not yet submitted an Application for Educational Benefits for the 2020-21 school year should do so before February 28, 2021. In addition, households must have a current mailing address on file with the school in order to receive the P-EBT card in the mail.

Schools

In addition, students must attend an eligible school. Schools that participate in the National School Lunch Program (or would have if not for the COVID-19 health emergency) become eligible after they are closed or operating with reduced hours or attendance for at least five consecutive days in the current school year. This includes distance learning or hybrid school learning models. Schools with an in-person learning model that have students who elected distance learning are also eligible, but only for the students who chose distance learning.

Key Messages for Families

- Students will be issued benefits based on the learning model and free or reduced-price meal data submitted to MDE by their school.
- Due to a waiver from the U.S. Department of Agriculture (USDA), many Minnesota students are receiving meals at no cost (regardless of income) from their school this year. Receiving meals at no cost does not make them eligible for P-EBT. Families can contact their school to verify if they were approved for free or reduced-price meals based on household income requirements.
- To be eligible for P-EBT, children must meet one of the following qualifications:
 - Receiving Supplemental Nutrition Assistance Program (SNAP), Minnesota Family Investment Program (MFIP) or Tribal Temporary Assistance for Needy Families (TANF)
 - Approved for free or reduced-price meals through the Application for Educational Benefits for the 2020-21 school year
- P-EBT benefit amounts will be calculated based on the school's learning model each month. Benefits will be issued when one of the following situations occur:
 - When the school reports distance learning for a majority of the month
 - When the school reports hybrid learning for a majority of the month
 - When the student elects distance learning for at least ten days in a month
- All students approved for free or reduced-price meals will receive P-EBT benefits retroactive to September for the months they meet the learning model requirement. Applications approved by February 28, 2021 will be included in the first round of benefits issued in late March.
- Families can take two steps right now, if they think they qualify for P-EBT:
 - Make sure the school has their current address and contact information.
 - Submit an Application for Educational Benefits to their child's school (if not already receiving SNAP, MFIP, Tribal TANF or attending a CEP school).
- Families will receive a new P-EBT card for each eligible child. The dollar amount may differ for each child in a family depending on the learning model for each school and grade level.
